

Scallops and crayfish hot topics

Scallops and crayfish have been hot topics lately, mainly because of the latest proposals to increase quotas, while poor management and excessive commercial fishing has robbed us of access to decent size and numbers of fish.

People from all over New Zealand have said enough!

LegaSea has responded to a stream of requests to challenge these latest bids to further deplete our fisheries.

If we don't make a stand we could get rolled.

So if you want to do something meaningful to protect your fishery and the marine environment for future generations of Kiwi kids, go online and have your say at www.legasea.co.nz or www.facebook.com/legasea

Beach & Boat contest

LegaSea was a major benefactor of the Century Batteries Beach & Boat fishing competition, held in mid February.

More than 2000 anglers from all over the country descended on Ruakaka in the sunny mid-north for two days of fishing, sharing yarns and competition for prizes.

Our LegaSea team worked hard to get people engaged and signed up to receive future news, so they can stay informed and take action when required.

More than 400 people signed up and went into the draw to win a LegaSea prize pack worth more than $300.

Brett Sonntag from Cambridge was the lucky winner and took home a couple of LegaSea hats, a hoodie and tee shirt along with a LegaSea Hutchwilco lifejacket. Also, several packets of Fog Dog batter mix and a couple of Williamson filleting knives. Thanks Hutchwilco, Fog Dog and Shimano. You guys rock!

And joining the action was another Gold Partner representative, Brent Denny from Club Marine Insurance. While Brent and the team missed out on adding their names to the fishing ledger, they had a great time scoping uncharted waters and enjoying the salty sights of the Whangarei coastline.

LegaSea Hutchwilco lifejackets

Hutchwilco has recently partnered with LegaSea to produce a lifejacket. The unisex, high quality lifejackets are comfortably slim so you can wear them all day while catching fish or enjoying watersports.

These jackets are being sold at a competitive price so you can stay safe on the water while saving cash. Funds raised from their sale help support LegaSea's work.

If you love your fishing then make sure you wear a LegaSea Hutchwilco lifejacket and you'll have many future and bountiful fishing trips to look forward to.

Adult size is classy black. One size fits all. Kids vests are in the pipeline.

Available at participating LegaSea merchandise retailers or by request from your Hutchwilco retailer. Also at www.legasea.co.nz.

Proud partners

LegaSea has a growing list of proud Platinum, Gold, Silver and Bronze partners. In future updates we will feature these partners and encourage you to support them as they invest in an abundant fishing future for all of us. Stay tuned by reading future updates in the New Zealand Fishing News magazine.

Updated brochures

A new batch of LegaSea brochures has arrived. If you need some for yourself, family, friends or work colleagues give us a call. They are becoming a popular insert into fishing competition starter packs. If you are organising a major event please give us plenty of notice so we can organise sufficient supplies to meet your needs.

P: 0800 LEGASEA (534 273)

M: LegaSea, PO Box 20-319 Glen Eden, Auckland 0641

E: info@legasea.co.nz

W: www.legasea.co.nz

FB: www.facebook.com/legasea

LegaSea supports and promotes your interests for conservative management of our environment and precious fisheries resources. By making an affordable, monthly contribution of $10 or more to LegaSea (that's a coffee and some bait) you provide the resources required to effectively lobby for better fisheries policy and management practices.